OVERVIEW

Xiamen University was the first university in China founded by an overseas Chinese. It was founded on April 6th, 1921 by Mr.TanKah Kee, the well-known, patriotic overseas Chinese leader, with the aim of developing the overall quality of the nation's people through modern education. It was he who gave the University its motto: Pursue excellence; Strive for perfection. It is the only key comprehensive university directly affiliated with the Education Ministry in any of China's five special economic zones.

Since its foundation 91 years ago, over 200,000 students have graduated from Xiamen University, and over 60 academicians of the Chinese Academy of Sciences(CAS) and the Chinese Academy of Engineering (CAE) have studied or worked here.

Xiamen University is now making great strides towards its goal of "becoming a high-level research university well-known both at home and abroad."

INTRODUCTION

The Wang Yanan Institute for Studies in Economics Summer Programme for Economics and Finance is held annually in Xiamen China. It is hosted by the Ministry of Education (MOE) and WISE, jointly with MOE Key Laboratory of Econometrics and Fujian provincial Key Laboratory of Statistical Sciences at Xiamen University.

WISE has held eight summer programmes since 2005, with the aim of introducing fundamental theories and cutting-edge information on such subjects as econometrics, finance, microeconomics, and experimental economics, to faculty and students of Departments of Economics and to management staff at domestic universities and institutions. The summer programme on Econometrics and Financial Econometrics in 2006 received special praise from the Chinese Ministry of Education. The aims of WISE include promoting the internationalization and the standardization of teaching and research, which constitutes the rationale for these summer programme. Through this, WISE has had a positive influence on education in Southern China, and become widely known as a center for cultivating and nurturing young scholars, particularly in econometrics and financial econometrics. A milestone was passed at the end of 2009, when the Laboratory of Econometrics at Xiamen University was designated a Key Laboratory of the Chinese Ministry of Education. It was the first Key Laboratory for economics and WISE is proud to host such a laboratory. In 2010, Fujian Provincial Key Laboratory of Statistical Sciences at Xiamen University was designated too.

ABOUT THE PROGRAMME

WISE and the MOE Key Laboratory of Econometrics at Xiamen University take advantage of their large number of staff with international academic backgrounds in econometrics, finance and experimental economics and extensive international academic resources to hold annual summer programmes focusing on these research fields in order to provide young scholars with opportunities to access information about current developments in their field, to benefit from academic collaboration, exchanges and communication on a international scale. These summer programmes broaden their academic horizons and enhance their ability to carry out innovative research. Lecturers:

This year's summer programme will include well-known lecturers from WISE, Xiamen University and a number of overseas universities, who will give lectures on the latest theories and developments in econometrics, finance and experimental economics. The lectures will be relayed simultaneously in English and Chinese.

INTRODUCTION

Xiamen Academy of International Law (Xiamen Academy), located in the hauntingly beautiful city of Xiamen, China, was established after the first meeting of the Curatorium held in the Peace Palace, The Hague, in July 2005. It is an international institution aiming to provide highest level education to individuals who are particularly sensitive to the development and use of international law, such as young lecturers in international law, diplomats, practitioners of law, government officials in charge of foreign affairs, and officials in international organizations. The mission of the Academy is to promote academic exchanges among legal communities across the globe, encourage examination of major international issues, and by so doing seek ways to improve the possibilities for world peace and international cooperation.

The courses are given in English or French. The Program has been designed to be both practical and highly scholarly. Clearly differentiated from the education provided by national schools and universities, the courses are aimed at individuals who are already familiar with international law and whose professional interests and intellectual curiosity drive them to pursue successful professional development in this area.

Xiamen Academy has successfully held seven summer programs ever since 2006. In these summer programs, Xiamen Academy had the honor to have invited many world-renowned professors, ICJ judges and experts to give excellent lectures on various topics of international law. Altogether, over 800 participants from around 40 countries and regions have joined the seven summer programs with enthusiasm and dedication, and have been well rewarded. Their experience of staying in Xiamen not only brought them cutting-edge knowledge of international law, but also provided them with happy memories in such an internationalized education and living background.

Xiamen Academy is now pleased to announce that the 2013 Summer Program will be given by highly qualified legal professionals from around the world from 8 to 26 July 2013. The topics of the 2013 Summer Program will touch upon the latest development of many important subjects of international law.
